

CONVENIENT NEW SCOUTS TO GIVE MAIL SERVICE DEMONSTRATION

These Boys Each Way Help Between Gettysburg and Hanover. Boy Scouts' Services has been established.

It's a small world—especially in a small town—and giving better connection with Hanover, Littlestown and Frederick together with other points nearby would be a great service to all and the Western Maryland.

The new service is the result of a suggestion from the scouts on the train writing at 11:10 p.m., and the disposal of a winter park at 11:15 p.m. in the early part of December.

One of the principal good features of this is that it allows both boys and girls to go to Gettysburg and receive an answer the same day. This is frequently desired especially in the case of Court House visitors.

Under the old service letters had to be mailed at least two days before a boy could be sure of receiving an answer leaving home at 8 o'clock and arriving at Littlestown at 7 p.m. in the winter.

Now the boy can write at 11:10 a.m. and reach his destination at 11:15 p.m.

The new service gives the result each way daily, between Hanover and Gettysburg, between Hanover and Littlestown, and between Hanover and Frederick in better time. Furthermore, the service will be available to all who travel by train.

The new service gives those results each way daily, between Hanover and Gettysburg, between Hanover and Littlestown, and between Hanover and Frederick in better time. Furthermore, the service will be available to all who travel by train.

It is believed that the number of those new conveniences will result with much favor and that many will take advantage of the improved facilities.

DRAWING A TOOTH

Toothmaker's Pulling Machine Was a Wonderful Invention.

KILLED HIS FIRST PATIENT.

That Scary Computer Was Needed, and the Assistant Shamed His Victim Littered His Right Leg Each Time the Lever Was Turned.

Mr. Tuckerman was never really afraid of the dentist, but he had been possessed naturally a strong mechanical genius and a fine appetite, and, gratifying the latter propensity, he concluded that he could do more good than harm to his patients by pulling their teeth by getting the teeth of his patients to good order as quickly as possible.

He was the man first invented the dental chair, and he was the man who first made the tools for the perfect extraction of food, and he was the man who first invented that method of filing cavities with the aid of pure water and hard diamonds.

He was the man who first invented the dental mirror, and he was the man who first invented the dental stool.

He was the man who first invented the dental saw, and he was the man who first invented the dental file.

He was the man who first invented the dental needle, and he was the man who first invented the dental probe.

The dentist seated his patient in the chair of torture and, opening the mouth wide, he inserted the dental tools into the right hand side of the mouth, which he had just recently polished.

"I shall have trouble with this tooth," said the dentist, "so I will clip off its bottom forces and then extract it. You will be in pain, but the tooth won't move, and the extraction will be painless."

The dentist went to work, and in a short time he had the tooth removed, which he was soon compelled to pull out again.

"What do you know your teeth?" asked the dentist.

"I don't know," said the patient.

"I have a toothache," said the dentist.

"I am a toothache," said the patient.
